What do we do?

100rumos Events is capable of organising all types of events in order to ensure a professional, entertaining and original result adapted to each company.

Our events service includes all the logistic preparation and production up to the day of the event. From the event management, production and coordination of services, the selection of professionals for key functions in the event, to the logistic support and transportation.

The organisation of an event requires a specialised team that can ensure not only the logistic aspects, but also and the public relations of the event.

Schedule a meeting with us so that we can better understand your needs and develop a creative solution according to your budget and your intentions.
The budget is a fixed sum you specify at the beginning of the work.

All information received will be treated with discretion and confidentiality.

We organise business events, and we provide logistic and formal support in conferences and seminars. We handle the welcoming of your international guests at your company. In the company of national interpreter-guides, we plan trails through the main cities of the country. We also promote festive or thematic lunches and dinners, recreational and cultural activities, traditions and customs, strategy games and team building exercises, and traditional and popular games.

Alto Minho, Beiras, the Historical Villages of Portugal, Douro Region, Vale do Lima and Alentejo. In all the main cities of these regions we will show you the best Portugal has to offer.
